

Disclosure, Omen (ft. Sam Smith)

I'm feeling something, something different
When you left, I'd appeared to change
I was blinded, I'd not envisioned
The same face in a different frame

It's an omen, caught my baby crying
Saw the silver lining
It must be an omen
Needed you to show me that you are an omen

Not like you'd broke my heart
I didn't pay attention to the light in the dark
It left me torn apart
But now I see your tears are an omen

Omen

You were waiting, I was vacant
You left me for my eyes, then it hit me
You're relocating and I need you by my side

It's an omen, caught my baby crying
Saw the silver lining
It must be an omen
Needed you to show me that you are an omen

Not like you'd broke my heart
I didn't pay attention to the light in the dark
It left me torn apart
But now I see your tears are an omen
Not like you'd broke my heart
I didn't pay attention to the light in the dark
It left me torn apart
But now I see your tears are an omen