Disturbed, Intoxication

Now you tell me you like it You tell me you want it You're mine And you don't need another one Come on and tell me you like it Tell me you want it You're mine And another one to me

And the world will get you high

What can you take from me That which you cannot buy Exhileration Laughing and turning away What will you take from me Now that you are inside Intoxication Now are you feeling

Enough, to vilify what I love To sanctify all I hate Endowed with the need To carry over the life I lead Intoxicating
