

Disturbed, Parasite

You've got nowhere to hide
And all bullshit aside
You've committed a terrible crime
You've stepped over the line and
You'd better be running for your life
Fucked over again
I even called you a friend
A mistake I won't be repeating
I just don't understand
How you even continue to deny

You know why
(Do you remember why)
Don't you pretend that you don't know why
(You Fucking Parasite)

Because your living through association
Has been getting you high
You'd sell your soul
For just a taste of the life

Now what a surprise, to discover the lies
You'll be telling again in no time
You just don't realize they'll come back
And be fucking up your life
In trouble again, I just don't understand
This whole pattern that keeps repeating
You know you'll do it again
And admit you can step into the light

You know why
(Do you remember why)
Don't you pretend that you don't know why
(You Fucking Parasite)

Because your living through association
Has been getting you high
You'd sell your soul
For just a taste of the life

Determination, has been running on high
No control, for just a taste of the life

Because your association
Has been getting you high
You'd sell your soul
For just a taste of the life

Determination has been running on high
No control, for just a taste of the life

For just a taste of the life

You've got nowhere to hide
And all bullshit aside
You've committed a terrible crime
You've stepped over the line and
You'd better be running for your life