

Django Django, Reflections

Starring at a glimmer stone
Tryina seek new life
It glistens once, now it's unrefined
Let go!
Try to live a perfect life,
Paint the world in gold
Before we realized we were only in soul

Reflections hurt my eyes
Please raise me a sign
Glimmer in the Sun,
The billion come undone

Walked this mile for far too long
Set our life in stone
The tracks that lead us down are over grown
Now that the past is lost,
Now the future's ours
The amblers burn too bright for us to hold

Reflections hurt my eyes
Please raise me a sign
Glimmer in the Sun,
The billion come undone

Reflections hurt my eyes
Please raise me a sign
Glimmer in the Sun,
The billion come undone