

Dog Fashion Disco, The Hitchhiker headlights stab into the night sky, hands gripping tight to the wheel knuckles white approaching a figure in the headlights where are you headed get in we'll be on our way i'll engage the conversation like I care to set your fragile mind at ease then tune you out like the radio, songs fading in and out hissing dead melodies hitchhiker roadside execution

midnight stranger,
come and take a ride with me
in all my misery
I would love some company
this long and winding road isn't safe for anyone.
now focus all your fear on the barrel of my gun we are now experiencing technical difficulties calm down close your eyes it was all a bad dream now go back to sleep

standing over your dead body smiling at you staring at you

midnight stranger,
come and take a ride with me
in all my misery
this long and winding road isn't safe for anyone.

midnight stranger,
nothing can save you now beneath the pale starlight i'll take you out of this world, lone hitchhiker i'll paint the highway with your blood, in the morning light no one will recognize you
