

Dogma, Conflict

I'm trying to break out, take my soul off of the shelf
I'm trying to reach out, extend my hand through the bars I've built myself
I'm trying to believe when everyone around me is filled with doubt
Though I'm trying to succeed I can't climb with the mountain on my back

Are you trying to tell me that it is all a lie?
Are you trying to show me that I've wasted all my time?
Are you trying to reach me? Well I cannot see the signs
Say what you're trying to say, I might just change my mind

I'm trying to make out what I see and what I think is real
I'm trying to leave out the conflicting emotions that I feel
I'm trying to forget all the things that I thought I never knew, yeah
I'm trying to inject all these lies with a little dose of truth

Are you trying to tell me that it is all a lie?
Are you trying to show me that I've wasted all my time?
Are you trying to reach me? Well I cannot see the signs
Say what you're trying to say and I might just change my mind

A lack of belief is teaching me faith
And hatred has taught me to love
Suffering has taught me compassion
Impatience has taught me to wait

Are you trying to tell me that it is all a lie?
Are you trying to show me that I've wasted all my time?
Are you trying to reach me? Well I cannot see the signs
Say what you're trying to say, I might just change my mind