

Dogs Damour, Empty World

My world is empty, without you
Sometimes I feel so empty, without you Without a soul to help me thru these dark and lonely days of wishing I could be more successful in my own ways
I sleep so little again
I get sick every morning from the evenings grain
And my eyes just hang so heavy over the smile that hides my pain and my heart lies in the basement
While my thoughts go thru the roof
I only wish that I had told the truth
This is such an empty world, such an empty glass
There's not enough words in this world to forget the past
I only wish that I had told the truth
My world is empty, without you
Sometimes I feel so empty Betty blue
Without my soul, without my mind
Without my heart, I am hard to find Sometimes I feel so empty in this world without you