

Dogstar, Honesty Anyway on the first night I ever saw you from the first time I ever felt your skin I figured things a little strange as I began to rearrange myself when the first sunlight started to appear I would turn to see if you were here

I harbored not a single doubt just had to find what you're about inside I couldn't seem to say good night until I heard you say alright to me excuse me, my dear - I just had to say it's hell without you here and all my dreams are full of fear but there's honesty anyway the first time I knew I made a choice is when I heard the low-down sullen sound of your voice

I harbored not a single doubt
just had to find what you're about inside
I couldn't seem to say good night
until I heard you say alright to me

excuse me, my dear - I just had to say
it's hell without you here
and all my dreams are full of fear
but there's honesty anyway

just had to let you know feels like hell when you're not home and I sleep alone
but there's honesty anyway