

Dogwood, Daddy Dearest

What did she do to you sir?
Can't you see that you are twice the size of her?
It's not like she can stand up
When you beat her down with your love

Turn around and hear his screams as you toss his mom around
He sees his loving father beating mommy down
You threw me into the wall and you told me to shut up
That's what ignited me and then I blew up

Why can't I forget?

Daddy dearest, I love you
Please return it back
Christian family, we once were,
Do you still blame me?

Daddy dearest, you left me
Nowhere to be found
Christian family, we still are
Forgive and forget

Dad you are still I my prayers
Even though when I needed you, you weren't there
Your daughter would also like to
Once again just be called a princess by you

She cried so hard that she couldn't breathe
But you didn't even know
And if you did
You were too involved in yourself to show

So I went to comfort her and see if she was okay
That's when you decided to leave us, then you ran away!

Why can't I forget?

Daddy dearest, you weren't there
When she cried to you
Christian values, you taught me
What a hypocrite

Daddy dearest, my mentor
I still weep for you
Christian father, maybe so
Now my dad is gone, now my dad is gone

So long, no good-byes from you
Did I hear at all
Father, now I wish you well
In this world of morals

So long, no good-byes from you
Did I hear at all
Father, now I wish you well
In this world of morals

Daddy dearest, I love you
Please help return it back
Christian family, we once were
Do you still blame me?

Daddy dearest, you left me
Nowhere to be found

Christian family, we still love
Forgive and forget
