

Dogwood, Left Out Cold

What happened now?
Excuse of why we can't move away
Taken from the box
Skimmed over the top
Trust is of the past
Friendships never last

Nobody wins in a race against defeat
You conquered our beliefs with words of deceit
Harbored animosity
Engulfing our desires to forgive

Now fear's swept away
I've nothing left to say
I chose heaven over death, simple as breath
My God has taken charge
My past has left me scarred
Left out cold

There was a place
We all knew where we could get along
No one stabbed another brother
We could rely on each other

Virtues we all shared no other time compares
How could we have let you get away?
Harbored animosity
Engulfing our desires to forgive

Now fear's swept away
I chose heaven over death, simple as breath
My God has taken charge
My past has left me scarred

Now fear's swept away
I chose heaven over death, simple as breath
My God has taken charge
My past has left me scarred
