

Dolly Parton, Bargain Store

My life is likened to a bargain store and I may have just what you're looking for
If you don't mind the fact that all the merchandise is used
With a little mending it could be as good as new

Why you take for instance this old broken heart
If you will just replace the missing part
You would be surprised to find how good it really is
Take it and you never will be sorry that you did
The bargain store is open come inside you can easily afford the price
Love is all you need to purchase all the merchandise
And I can guarantee you'll be completely satisfied

[guitar]

Take these old used mem'ries from the past
And these broken dreams and plans that didn't last
I'll trade them for the future I can't use them anymore
I've wasted love but I still have some more
The bargain store is open...
My life is likened to a bargain store...
The bargain store is open come inside the bargain store is open come inside
