

Don't Look Down, Hindsight

Were not even friends
I thought that things were different
But they're still the same
And I just wanna belong
To something more than this
Cause finding out I'm different
Is something I don't miss
It's so hard to look back now and see
All those things I missed

Sitting at home
All by myself
Thinking of things I never did

What do we have in common?
I thought it might be more
But trying to have fun never seemed like such a chore
Always on the outside
I'm always looking in
Excluded from living this life I wanna live

It's so hard to look back now and see
All those things I missed

Sitting at home
All by myself
Thinking of things I never did

Why can't I be more like you now?
Why can't I be more like you now?

Well I just wanna belong
(Well I just wanna belong)
To something more than this
(To something more than this)
Cause finding out I'm different
(Cause finding out I'm different)
Is something I don't miss

It's so hard to look back now and see
All those things I missed

Sitting at home
All by myself
Thinking of things I never did
Things I never did
Things I never did
