

Don't Look Down, Last Breath

I find it hard to be the one you only come to when your down I'm broken by the days
I'm empty and cold now

I'm still waiting, for you to watch me fall
I'm lost and longing, you always haunt me

Cause I can't breathe
you're choking me
you're words are hands around my neck
you penetrate my skin
and kill me

This pain is frowning once again
It only comes when you're around these days are longer and I can't block out the sound

I'm still waiting, for you to knock me down
I'm lost and longing, you always haunt me

Cause I can't breathe
you're choking me
you're words are hands around my neck
you penetrate my skin
and kill me

Cause I can't breathe
you're choking me
you're words are hands around my neck
you penetrate my skin

The things that you say, mean nothing to me It's over this time, you made me believe
That I can break you, That I can break you
That I can break you, That I can break you

you're choking me
you're words are hands around my neck
and you're words kill me, and your words kill me kill me

Cause I can't breathe
you're choking me
you're words are hands around my neck
and kill me
