

Don Williams, Loving You So Long Now

I've been loving you so long now
What I'd give if I could see you once again
Just to throw my arms around you
And live those happy times again
Lovely lady it seemed so right
When I held you all through the night
I could see me forever loving you
I never thought of losing you
I've been loving you so long now
What I'd give if I could see you once again
Just to throw my arms around you
And live those happy times again
Hungry lovers we used to cling so tight
Whisper softly all through the night
And I remember so many loving days
I can't believe they've slipped away
I've been loving you so long now
What I'd give if I could see you once again
Just to throw my arms around you
And live those happy times again
