

Donatella Rettore, Sweetheart on parade

Everybody loves to love
The local girl made good
Surely I'd find peace of mind
If anybody could
Still at times I find myself
Wishing they were right
If everybody loves me
Where are they tonight?

Everybody loves to love
A sweetheart on parade
Out there on the stage tonight
The girl who's got it made
But after the applause is gone
I sometimes wish I knew
Why everybody loves me
And I love only you

Haven't I got all the things success alone can give?
Wouldn't everybody love to lead the life I live?
All I need is someone I can share it with

But how they love to love
The golden girl next door
Up there with her name in lights
Who could ask for more?
Still I can't help wondering
Why it should be true
Everybody loves me
Everyone but you

Haven't I got all the things success alone can give?
Wouldn't everybody love to lead the life I live?
All I need is someone I can share it with
