

Donna Cruz, Where Could He Be

I sit by my window
Gazing out into the starry night
If only I had someone
With whom to share such a lovely sight

Seems I've wished upon every star I see
For someone to come along and be
My one true friend and love
He's all I'm dreaming of Someone with whom to share whatever life may bring

Someone who will be my strength, my joy, my everything
Someone who will miss me when we're apart
Whose heart I'll own and will own my heart
Oh how I hope and pray
He'll find me someday

Where could he be?
Will I spend a lifetime searching endlessly?
For that someone to hold
And call my own
Oh where could he be?
Heaven help him find his way to me

Sometimes I wonder
If I'll really find him at all
When the time is right
Will he be there to catch me, when I fall?

Is it really only a matter of time
Before he walks into this life of mine
Well waiting is all I can do
Will my dream ever come true?

Where could he be?
Will I spend a lifetime searching endlessly?
For that someone to hold
And call my own
Oh where could he be?
Heaven help him find his way to me

Where could he be?
Will I spend a lifetime searching endlessly?
For that someone to hold
And call my own
Oh where could he be?
Heaven help him find his way to me
(Where could he be)
Heaven help him find his way+to me+
