

Donna Lewis, When The Rain Comes Down

I can't believe the things I see
You won't even try to talk to me
It wasn't like this from the start
Now you want to break my heart
You see that there is no love inside of you

So where am I to go with the love I bear?
Do I see the little bit of the time we shared?
Do you hear my soul crying out for you?

You've got me running fast
And all around me is broken glass
How can I find shelter
When the rain comes down

And I'm too ashamed to cry
How could you say good-bye?
And all I ask is shelter
When the rain comes down, on me

If the things you say to me are true
Why am I still in love with you?
You say to me that I have changed
Telling I don't know what to think *
You say you're sorry, fortunately needed me

So tell me what am I to do with all your lies
Do I recover the spirit to heal inside
I still believe that you're all I need

You've got me running fast
And all around me is broken glass
How can I find shelter
When the rain comes down

And I'm too ashamed to cry
How could you say good-bye?
And all I ask is shelter
When the rain comes down, on me

So tell me what am I to do with the tears I've cried?
Do I recover the spirit to heal inside
I still believe that you're all I need

You've got me running fast
And all around me is broken glass
How can I find shelter
When the rain comes down

And I'm too ashamed to cry
How could you say good-bye?
And all I ask is shelter
When the rain comes down

You've got me running fast
And all around me is broken glass
How can I find shelter
When the rain comes down

And I'm too ashamed to cry
How could you say good-bye?
And all I ask is shelter
When the rain comes down, on me
