

Donna Summer, Cats without claws

It's a windy night of first and main of any city of a hundred names spirits fly high and the sparks fly low