

Dot Allison, Lover

How can we teach what we do not know
How can we shine when we do not glow
We're losing more than we ever found
We're trying to cross uncovered ground
Now I've seen the other side
I've seen things I just can't hide
How can this die when it's never grown
How can we feel what we've never shown
We're losing more than we ever found
We're trying to cross uncovered ground