

Dot Allison, You Can Be Replaced

We took all the laws
And threw them away
We're the only ones
Who saw the call may-day
Held by the throat
With the backs against the wall
The bottom looks like up
When you have got the ball
We are your rivals
We're the survivors
I'm not phased
You can be replaced
You've got the power
To give your cluelessness a voice
Saying loads of nothing
With a lot of noise
Walk down the street
Resentment in your arms
There's something free in us
That you despise
We are your rivals
We're the survivors
I'm not phased
You can be replaced
We are your rivals
We're the survivors
I'm not phased
You can be replaced
