

Dottie West, Destroy Me Again

I'd never thought you'd come back for the pieces
Of the love you left scattered behind
Take what's left there's no way I can stop you
You still have control of my heart and my mind
Here's your chance to hurt me all over but this time my pride feels no pain
So tear me down too low it don't matter go on destroy me again
Day by day you let me recall the mem'ries
And relive all the dreams and all the good times we've planned
Stay a while you see I still love you go on destroy me again go on destroy me again
