

Dover Drive, The Last Laugh

dont look back

when she walked away, I never thought i'd have the last laugh in her face but now im laughing harder than ever because you look so peaceful when you cant cry wolf and I said
dont look back

I just wanted to ask: did you think this through?
did you ever use your head? did you think this through?
did you think I wouldn't hate you? because I do...

dont come crawling back, it just makes you look pathetic when you said that it was over, and I believed you no more playing with my mind this time is the last time because i've left this all behind and I say
im not looking back

I just wanted to ask: did you think this through?
did you ever use your head? did you think this through?
did you think I wouldn't hate you? because I do...

I never predicted how this would end did you think this through?
and now that its over, I could care less you weren't worth it at all