

Down By Law, Heroes & Hooligans

now this life is a wonderful thing see the world, go a million miles faces come and go like the tide on a summer day, or a lonely night but everyone is telling you what to do with your life just escape and breathe free daydream of a girl I used to know so many memories have slipped away thinking a million thoughts an hour waiting for the waves to take me away they say somewhere is a path that's marked out just for you well I hope someday our paths will cross when I lie awake at night, I still see only you