United in love and freedom we could make this world worth living in a place where sun keeps shining is where your happiness begins.

United in love and friendship we'll travel horizons far beyond compare and open the door to ev'ryone for freedom is for all to share.

Though the road we take maybe hard to climb together I'm sure that we will find a guiding star way up above to help us on our way to love.

United in love and freedom
is where your happiness begins.
