Dramarama, Scenario

This is my scenario
Phonograph and radio
I've written everything I know that I have ever seen.

Get it started with a bang meet a pretty girl who sang a famous song of love at seventeen.

All alone in a bar room, alone in a bar room.
All alone in a bar room, alone in a bar room.

Sister's in the everglades Mother swallows razor blades Father makes the flags for all the Labor Day parades.

She hangs out at the five and ten She dates a lot of married men They take her out and wonder when She'll sing that song again.

All alone in a bar room, alone in a bar room.
All alone in a bar room, alone in a bar room.

This is my Scenario
Phonograph and radio
I've written everything I know
that I have ever seen.

Get it started with a bang meet a pretty girl who sang a famous song of love at seventeen.

All alone in a bar room, alone in a bar room.
All alone in a bar room, alone in a bar room.