You can be the one to lie to me And keep me up at night And Im the one who couldnt see To try to make things right

Spoken is the word, forgotten is his name Do you speak the truth or are you to blame Inside I fee so cold and nothing feels right Ive watched it all unfold it feels like Ive died

I wouldnt see you run to me If I needed you to come I know your love wasnt free So Im sitting here undone

Spoken is the word, forgotten is his name So you speak the truth or are you to blame Inside I feel so cold and nothing feels right Ive watched it all unfold it feels like Ive died

But I felt that if I could close my eyes That all the dead would come alive I went and bet it all until I went insane Im ending all of this I threw that part away

Spoken is the word, forgotten is his name Do you speak the truth or are you to blame I feel so cold nothing feels right It all unfolds feels like Ive died
