

Dropout Year, Best Friends For Never

80 proof is no excuse, an apology so insincere. out of your mouth you sing out loud for everyone to but in my own defense I feel i've been more than patient. the one thing that I can't stand is the fact words fell short as your lies grew stronger and through it all I always loved her. when you think thin because of this i'm so much stronger. it took a while but I moved on, so when you think things are g don't initiate a conversation that instigates a confrontation. i've found a new best friend in hatred th

words fell short as your lies grew stronger and through it all I always loved her. when you think thin
because of this i'm so much stronger. it took a while but I moved on, so when you think things are g

when I gave an inch you'd take the mile. if I gave it, you'd take it. you claim to be the story and that

words fell short as your lies grew stronger and through it all I always loved her. when you think thin
because of this i'm so much stronger. it took a while but I moved on, so when you think things are g