

Drugstore, If

If I could have my way with you
I would make you fall asleep
And tell you every single thing
We both know is wrong with me

Tomorrow belongs to everyone
And it's moving hopelessly
I lock the door and switch it off
Completely

If I could have you, have you, completely
If I could have you, have you, completely
If I could have you, have you, completely