

Drunksouls, There Is A Place

There is a place I wanna be now
Fishing and burning all days long

There's an island up north to my own one
I spent some time with her
Enjoying her beauty
Sitting on my boat
My feet in the water

I can see sun rising
Sparkling over the sea

There is a place I wanna be now
Fishing and burning all days long

Each days I woke up with the smile on my face
I know we'll dive today
Into the womb of grace
In the reef I see
Manta's wings under me

I can stir the yellow sand
From the bottom of the sea

There is a place I wanna be now
Fishing and burning all days long

Every afternoon is an ode to real peace
Only disturbed sometimes
By the voice of the wind
All you have to do
Is admire the scene
Smoking below the trees
Your heart will step free

There is a place I wanna be now
Fishing and burning all days long

At night my friends and I used to sit on the bow
Wrapped in a star cover
Discussing together
Now those days are gone
But the island is still there

I wish to go back some day
And stay for ever
