

Dry Cell, New Revolution

Hello Again

I know I've seen you here before

Can we be friends?

I'd like to be so much more.

But now that seems so long ago

She can hardly remember

This is a new revolution

Before you wish your final days

There's only de-evolution

Inside you hide away

Goodbye Again

Children are taking their toll

She's growing old

She use to be so beautiful

But now that seems so long ago

She can hardly remember

This is a new revolution

Before you wish your final days

There's only de-evolution

Inside you hide away

You have to walk before you run

Before you claim to be ok

This is a new revolution

Inside you're wide awake

You always hide away

Cause no one hears your pain

and so you hide away

This is a new revolution

Before you wish your final days

There's only de-evolution

Inside you hide away

You have to walk before you run

Before you claim to be ok

This is a new revolution

Inside you hide away