

Ducky Boys, Richmond Skyline

Wake up, Jay, you'll have to drive
I'm half asleep and I'm half alive
I can't get this mind of mine off home
My life seems so far away
We ain't those kids that yesterday
Thought we'd take this world of ours by storm
You can't recapture yesterday
Tomorrow's just a day away
I tell you now, my friend, we need a change
Underneath that Richmond sky
I learned a thing or two on life
Enough to keep this restlessness at bay
You can't recapture yesterday
Tomorrow's just a day away I tell you now, my friend, we need a change
I know I won't be nobody I won't be anyone
I'm going to where the wind will blow I'm half a world from home
Take me to the river, drown me in the sea
Take me where I'm not afraid to be
Wake up, Jay, you'll have to drive
I'm half asleep and I'm less alive
I can't get this mind of mine off home
You can't recapture yesterday
Tomorrow's just a day away
I tell you now, my friend, we need a change
