

Dum Dums, I Woke Up (But The World Was Slee

I was born nineteen saw the world for the very first time
Kaleidoscopic colours in everyones eyes
People jerking like fishes in the sun
Too tired to sleep, kill the clock & were done

Im keeping my head above water
Keeping my head in the sand
Maybe were under surveillance
Maybe we dont understand

Everybody drowning in their sorrow
Everyone is scared about tomorrow
And everything is changing
And theres nothing left to prove
I woke up but the world was sleeping

Disembodied heartbeats floating through the car parks
Birds cant fly any higher than the atmosphere
Dead body of an angel in the sun
Giants on earth beating off in the backroom

Im keeping my head above water
Keeping my head in the sand
Maybe were under surveillance
Maybe we dont understand

Everybody drowning in their sorrows
Everyone is scared about tomorrow
And everything is changing
I woke up but the world was sleeping

And everything is changing theres nothing left to prove

I woke up but the world was sleeping
I woke up but the world was sleeping (x4)
