

Earth, Wind & Fire, Saturday Nite

One, two
One, two, three, four

It was Saturday night
The moon was bright shining
Saturday night, shining down

It was Saturday night
The moon was bright
Shining down its harvest light
Music all around to hear
Set the stage and atmosphere

Many dress to suit their taste
Participate in the ego race
Tonight's the night for you to be
Biggest man in history

Saturday night's your curtain call
You found your place after all
I saw a face now in the crowd
Saying nothing, talking loud

Life is just a day
Living games we play
London Bridge is falling down
Do what Simon says

Doing what you feel
Games can be unreal
Humpty Dumpty when you fall
There'll be no one here to call
Life is still your mystery
You see, you see, you see

Many friends who gather round
And hope to feel safe and sound
We emphasize to make it clear
Our stumbling nation's atmosphere

While looking through that looking glass
Our vision show a stormy past
When you gonna wake and see the sun
Stop wasting time and having fun, yeah

Life is just a day
Daily games you play
London Bridge has fallen down
You did what Simon said

Doing what you feel
Games are so unreal
Humpty Dumpty, why'd you fall
You see there's no one here to call
Now we've solved this mystery
You see, you see, you see

Doing what you feel could be unreal
Life is just day
Life is still a mystery
Daily games we play

Saturday night
Tonight's the night

Participate

Saturday night
What'cha gonna do
When the night is through
When the crowd is gone
And the dream is true, yeah

Saturday night
Tonight's the night
Participate
