Ebony Tears, Negative Creep

So I'm fucked up inside more dead than alive Never followed the norm where I've been no one goes I kill myself for what it's worth mediocrity is sin I wipe my ass with moral standards I follow what's within Always held your head high beaten up going down So you're caged in your soul keep on digging that hole

Scars and wounds are worn with pride strength can not be taught I see this world through my own eyes the greatest all time low

Always willing to bleed to regain what I need I won't follow the blind I have faith in my mind I spit my hate into your face you're caged inside your soul I race the demons in my head eager to let go So you fear for your life why don't you step aside Beaten up going down eating shit from the ground

Scars and wounds are worn with pride strength can not be taught I see this world through my own eyes the greatest all time low

Life won't give you anything Except the pain you feel Now it's finally closing in It's time to bleed

Fuck this life it's all just bullshit We kill ourselves just to exist All the pain and all this sorrow Don't mean shit there's no tomorrow