

Ednaswap, All Time Low

You look so uneasy in that easy chair
Was it something I said to make you look so pale?
Next time I'll just scratch it out, the whole disease
But now that things are turning around
Can I call you baby?
This will be something I'll remember for years now
These mental pictures are forever and ever
You look ten years older than you did yesterday
Was it something I did to make you look that way?
Well I believe in letting off a little steam
But now that I'm the one on top
Should I call you honey?
This will be something I'll remember for years now
These mental pictures are forever
This will be something I'll remember
This will be something I'll remember for years now
These mental pictures are forever and ever and ever
This will be something I'll remember for years now
I'm already feeling much better