Eiffel 65, Morning Time

Morning time,

Now

Time

Morning time I sit and watch the sun arise And everything seems so different now Than it was just before Dawning sun As you go down my soul will run I feel it all slip away Slip out of my hands

I realize as I see All the people holding tight As I leave the world tonight, yeah Meeting the light I realize as I see All the people holding tight As I leave the world tonight, yeah Meeting the light

Morning time I sit here looking all around And everything seems so colourful And life's a miracle Dawning sun I here in the wind your sweet hum I feel it all slip away Slip out of my hands

I realize as I see All the people holding tight As I leave the world tonight, yeah Meeting the light I realize as I see All the people holding tight As I leave the world tonight, yeah Meeting the light

Morning time Oh it's morning time Dawning sun You will run away

I feel it all slip away Slip out of my hands

I realize as I see All the people holding tight As I leave the world tonight, yeah Meeting the light I realize as I see All the people holding tight As I leave the world tonight, yeah Meeting the light