

Eighteen Visions, Said And Done

Close the book and turn the page
Exit players from the stage
Count the moons and the stars but please stop fighting wars with me
After all is said and done you still try
After all is said and done you're not mine
Turn your back on all hope
This sheep has shed his winter coat
You send your notes and rantings
This pigeon has hard times landing
After all is said and done you're not mine
