Elastica, Blue

John's gone his senses loaded over by your house, You know, it's so basic

One two three four

John's gone his senses loaded Over by your house It's so basic I think you're faking Have a good time But don't get into my head Do you recommend I wait a while Direct and live or keep it Constant And selective blue

I can read your mind If you want to I will let you blue I can read your mind If you want to I will let you

John's gone he needs attention Do you understand His inclination? I've seen you shaking Come down here And I'll show you the wrong way Try to rearrange this tired old line Connect this smile and keep it Standard And reflective blue

I can read your mind If you want to I will let you blue I can read your mind I will let you If you want to
