

Elephantis, Leo

After all these years I'm struggling to see the brighter side
When every day another failure is the footprint I leave
I will remain the lion at heart

Coming to terms with a force outside my control
This life right now is my only constant
And I will defend it with everything I am
And everything I have inside

So as you turn and run from me
I just want you to see

I'm already far from here
I left you to choke while you refuse to hear
Only with compassion can you finally breathe

Living for that GBP must make you feel so poor

I'm trying to find some common ground
But your ignorance keeps you bound
I'm so let down
I'm so let down

But I remain the lion

After all these years I'm struggling to see the brighter side
When every day another failure is the footprint I leave
I will remain the lion at heart

Coming to terms with a force outside my control
This life right now is my only constant
And I will defend it with everything I am
I remain the lion

Strong and undefeated

A life ruled by the weight of your wallet is no life at all

But I remain the lion at heart
(Will I remain the lion at heart?)