

Eleventy Seven, The Unicorn Revolt

This is over it's the end there's no turning back again whoah I'm beginning to believe all I had to do was leave you

And it hurts to see you go but I want you to know that somewhere deep inside my heart it's been tearing me apart and I know you feel it too but God was watching all the time as we ran through all the lines till we finally let go. let this go

Everything I thought was mine now I found a waste of time so this is where my heart shot it's a place I'd rather not go

[chorus]