

Elisa, New Kiss

I don't wanna hear another plastic love song
And I don't need no more triviality
Cause I know there is more
That love could be
But you know that's not to say that I know just what I want out of life
It doesn't mean that I feel hopeful everyday I'm alive
But when you smiled at me I felt many things
Like lust and fear and dreams
And though it could hurt I've gotta try it anyway
When the door is flung wide open you don't stay inside your room all day
You go where there's a chance of losing the awful empty lie
That it's better not to need anyone than to take the crazy uncertain ride
And it's a new kiss and I'm flying out there
A great kiss and I'm crying in the streets
It's a killer kiss under a friendly rain
Hear me now sell me joy and pain
But at the best price you can
I don't know much more than your first name
But I might stick around till I know everything
Because who we could be remains to be seen
Is it the joke now or the dream
And I like the new beginning the slow show and tell Sometimes I think the expectation is sweeter than the love itself
It's alright I'm gonna take my time I'm gonna take your mystery
You know it's simple don't you try to ignore take your freedom when you're given the key
Like a new kiss and I'm flying out there
A great kiss and I'm crying in the streets
It's a killer kiss under a friendly rain
Hear me now sell me joy and pain
But at the best price you can
Like a new kiss and I'm flying out there
A great kiss and I'm crying in the streets
It's a killer kiss under a friendly rain
Hear me now sell me joy and pain
Like a new kiss and I'm flying out there
A great kiss and I'm crying in the streets
It's a killer kiss under a friendly rain
Hear me now sell me joy and pain
