

Eloy, Queen Of The Night

my guiding star shows me the path to gates of dawn that lie shining its signs and magic lights lead me through this labyrinth of darkness tempting me and enticing me the hour of examination has come I have come to crossing lights and one tries to blind me dark shadows try to lead astray shading me blunting me pulling at me with all their might they caress and blind and touch me pulling at me with all her might the seductive queen of night calls escape the dark that hides and gives you a shelter and guard why confront the sun's burning rays that will be your decline fate can't be questioned the cards have all been laid useless uprising
surrender to the laws of man's nature turn back in time isn't the night the one that makes lifetime bearable play man's game that eternally will be useless uprising
Queen of the night don't poison me with your scents that numb my mind and all betray I won't give in to our reality that contains a being that doesn't satisfy fountains of light will finally prove me right