

Elton John, Conquer The Sun

Music by Elton John

Lyrics by Gary Osborne

The night we met, we stood

Divided by defenses as old as time

But love has found a way

To bring me to your senses and you to mine

So we meet in the cloak of evening

And we try to go on believing

Two different worlds can still be one

You and me, you and me, you and me, we can conquer the sun

The night we met, we knew

What love would soon be leading us to do

And so it goes, and now

When wanting turns to needing, I turn to you

And it's hard to go on deceiving

But we have to go on believing

That someday our love will overcome

You and me, you and me, you and me, we can conquer the sun

As I lie here and feel you breathing

It's not hard to keep on believing

That someday our love will overcome

You and me, you and me, you and me, we can conquer the sun
