

Elvis Costello, Living In Paradise

I don't like those other guys looking at your curves
I don't like you walking round with physical jerks Everything they say and do is getting on my nerves
Soon they will be lucky to be picking up the perks

'Cause when they pull the shutters down and throw up in the dark, they'll find that all the dogs outside bite much worse than they bark.

[Chorus:]

Here we are living in paradise, living in luxury.
Oh, the thrill is here but it won't last long You better have your fun before it moves along And you're already looking for another, fool like me.

I call you Betty Felon 'cause you are a pretty villain
And I think that I should tell them that you'd make a pretty killing 'Cause meanwhile up in heaven they are waiting at the gate saying 'We'd always knew you'd make it, didn't think you'd come this late'.

And now it's much too dangerous to stop what you've begun
When everyone in paradise carries a gun

[Chorus]

Later in the evening when arrangements are made,
I'll be at the keyhole outside your bedroom door.
'Cause I'm the first to know whenever the plans are laid that never go further than floor to floor.

You think that I don't know the boy that you're touching, but I'll be at the video and I will be watching

[Chorus]
