

Embracing, Dragon Rage

There was a time when I was young
I walked inside the forest on my own
No one cared for me I was not of their kind

Aside a little river I lay down in the silence
Looking up in the clear blue sky
This was like the finest dream I've ever had
The rising winds made me wonder
I could feel the presence of Gelhein Thari

Fell the dragon rage tonight
Don't let the beast out of your sight
He'll be guiding me to the land
Into the land where I belong
Dragon rage

Everyone had screamed to me in disgust
I had never had a friend
The only one who cared for me
Was the woman I loved
But she was hanging the gallows now
Because she had brought me a rose
