

Embracing, Only Greedy Gods

Freedom...

We are travelling to a new age and to another land

Are we afraid of what's behind

Or perhaps what's to come

Once there was a promise

A name would free us from all lies

A word would unite all the dreamers

That day was last year

They are all the same

Only greedy gods

In autumn yellow we saw him rise

We had wished for a savior

But the newborn was the opposite

In his glowing eyes we saw nothing but hate and greed

The great hall was soon filled with our own blood

Fear was spread across the land

Our king was weak and soon died away

With his kingdom the crown fell

No one's left there to the story tell

We were the last ones to escape

Another world shall not fall

They are all the same

Only greedy gods
