

Emeli Sandé, You Are Not Alone are you sick and tired of being lied to getting kinda bored of being ignored can't find the tribe that you belong to?

on my friend, you are not alone are you tired of begging for some answers are you scared you won't make it out alive does it make you sick wen truth is censored?

my friend, you are not alone

you are not alone here, don't fear you are not alone here, no way there's plenty more others here
my friend, you are not alone

are you tired of working for the minimum? has your heart adjusted to te dark well does it make you sick they kill the innocent
my friend, you are not alone

are you dreamins of a brighter future? somewhere the children can be free will you risk in all to tell the truth
my friend, you are not alone

you are not alone here, don't fear
you are not alone here, no way
there's plenty more others here
my friend, you are not alone

are you tired of feeling invisible? are you sick od silencing your voice do you still have hope that peace is possible
my friend, you are not alone

you are not alone here, don't fear
you are not alone here, no way
there's plenty more others here
my friend, you are not alone
you are not alone here, don't fear
you are not alone here, no way
there's plenty more others here
my friend, you are not alone