

Emily Osment, Average girl

February 14, you say you want to see me
I'm thinking chocolate and flowers
We meet for breakfast, I'm feeling restless
Been getting ready for hours
And you walk through the door, I go to give you a kiss
But you turn your head to avoid my lips
And who's this girl your with, does that mean we're over, over?

I gave you my heart in a sweet love letter
But you gave it right back, said I like her better
That's when my whole world came crashing down
And she's walking around like the girl of your dreams
With her Angelina lips, double zero jeans
Can't believe I didn't see this coming around
She just so beautiful, I'm just an average girl

He says I'm sorry, I just keep smiling
Inside it feels like I'm broken
I say it's ok, Happy Valentine's Day
The biggest lie I've ever spoken
And they're walking out the door and I wave goodbye
Soon as they're gone I start to cry
Put my faith in the wrong guy, it's over, over

I gave you my heart in a sweet love letter
But you gave it right back, said I like her better
That's when my whole world came crashing down
And she's walking around like the girl of your dreams
With her Angeline lips, double zero jeans
Can't believe I didn't see this coming around
She just beautiful, I'm just an average girl

Now they're gone and I feel fatel
Scratch his name out on the table
He's a jerk, he's loser, he's a love abuser
February 14, I'm feeling sad and lonely
Nobody here wants to hold me

I gave you my heart in a sweet love letter
But you gave it right back, said I like her better
That's when my whole world came crashing down
And she's walking around like the girl of your dreams
With the Angeline lips, double zero jeans
Can't believe I didn't see this coming around
She just so beautiful, I'm just an average girl