

Emirsian, Overcome

Were talking on the phone for hours and hours
But no one hears the fall
Every time you laugh it hurts me now
I try to overcome
A year has past and I can still taste it
A salty drop in your eyes
I always wanted to be
A never ending circumstance
But whos to put your smile on my face
Do you still blame me for the lies youre meant to erase
What was should have been more
We both know it was so much more
We knew it was so much more