

Engelbert Humperdinck, My Confession

This is my confession
The things I've kept inside
Secrets I've tried to hide from you

You never suspected
Even carefully contained
I've respectfully restrained the truth

But now I can't hide it anymore
I can't deny it anymore
I'm in love with you and I don't care who knows
And it shows

Oh, I have wanted you for so long
And now all my strength is gone
I can't keep this feeling so locked up in my soul

So this is my confession
My heart without the skies
Undressed and open wide to you

I've abandoned the protection
That is quietly concealed
All that I review to you

But now I can't hide it anymore
I can't deny it anymore
I'm in love with you and I don't care who knows
And it shows

Oh, I have wanted you for so long
And now all my strength is gone
I can't keep this feeling so locked up in my soul

So this is my confession

Whatever your reaction
I will fearlessly
Without reservation
Tell you honestly

But now I can't hide it anymore
I can't deny it anymore
I'm in love with you and I don't care who knows

So this is my confession
So this is my confession
So this is my confession
